

Statue Here By Tomorrow

Columbus Shaft May Reach City Late Today

The statue of Christopher Columbus to be set on a monument at St. Marys Circle, will reach Syracuse late today or tomorrow, Joseph Pietrafesa, president of the Columbus Monument Association announced at noon.

Work on the monument base has been completed and plans are under way by association members to erect the statue. The association is headed by Mr. Pietrafesa, Anthony Valentine and James Lanzetta.

Considerable delay was experienced to getting the statue to the United States from Naples, Italy, and it was not until Mayor Rolland B. Marvin conferred with Antonio Grassardi, Italian consul general in New York City, that the statue was finally shipped. It was landed there Wednesday.
