Baum Confers With Marvin

Monument Base Found to Hit Gas Main

---

Dwight James Baum of New York City, architectural consultant on the Columbus monument to be erected in St. Marys Circle, met Mayor Marvin at the City Hall this morning to discuss plans for the project.

Drilling operations, Mr. Baum informed the mayor, show that it will be necessary for the Syracuse Lighting Company, Inc., to relocate a 12-inch main which passes beneath the monument site.

It is said the operations will not interfere with the program for erecting the municipal Christmas tree in the circle next month.

The monument base will be developed during the winter and completed in May, after which work will be started on the memorial proper, which is scheduled to be in place by Columbus Day, next year.
